

Quota donates raised money

PDF

PRINT

EMAIL

Written by The Indiana Gazette

Tuesday, 05 June 2007

Quota donated more than $7,000 to Downtown Indiana from money raised during the St. Patty's Open. From left: Shannon Lawer, Quota president; Jenn Myers, co-chairwoman; Megan White, co-chairwoman; Tim McQuaide, Downtown Indiana president; and Betsy Lauber, Main Street manager. Members of Quota International of Indiana raised more than $7,000 during the second annual St. Patty's Open, a nine-hole, indoor golf tournament, to support Downtown Indiana and local charities in the Indiana community. In recognition of the participating businesses who served as hosts for the golf holes - Upstairs at the Coney, Cozumel, Culpeppers, Boomerang's, Al Patti's, Spaghetti Benders and Wolfendale's - Quota International donated $1,000 to Downtown Indiana. Teri Enciso/Gazette photo

Quotarians Megan White, Jenn Myers and Carol McQuaide were co-chairwomen of the event. Romeo's Pizza and Hoagies and Catering, Wilmoth Interests Inc. and Fuhrere Sales and Service were marquee sponsors for the event. Other team sponsors included Al Patti's, American Dream Mortgage Inc., Boomerang's, Center for Orthopaedics and Sports Medicine, The Coney, David Ruddock, EME, Evolutions Salon, Good Insurance, Helwig Insurance Agency, Dana P. Henry, Indiana Eye Care, Indiana First Bank, Massaro Construction Co., Midday Rotary, David Myers Investments, Norma White Realty, Pennsylvania Barbeque, S&T Bank and Wolfendale's.

In February, Quota of Indiana, in partnership with the Coney, raised $4,200 for the Alice Paul House.

The club continues an active schedule of community service in addition to support of the Alice Paul House, including a mentoring program for girls and teens and donations of speech-and-hearing textbooks to area doctor's offices, aging services and nursing homes. Quota will also donate a third sound amplification device to the United Area School District this year.